

General News.

A new wire nail-making machine has been perfected which is capable of turning out 36,000 wire nails per hour.

The Sykes Iron Roofing Company, of Niles, O., has ordered machinery for turning out corrugated iron roofing ten feet long.

An industry in Japan is the manufacture of a very strong, transparent paper which is commonly used in the place of glass for windows.

Findlay, O., can boast of the only mask factory in the United States. This factory shipped 120,000 masks during one month recently.

The trade of bricklaying remain undisturbed by anything in the line of invention. The work is done today as it was when first practiced.

Russia, Japan and Australia are ordering engines of American manufacture, ranging in capacity from twenty-five to one hundred and fifty horse power.

A bar of iron, worth $5, worked into horseshoes, is worth $10.50; made into needles, it is worth $855; made into pen-knife blades, it is worth $3,285; made into balance springs of watches, it is worth $250,000.

A new substitute for cloth or leather for use in the bookbinding industries, is a substance made by preparing fibers of linen, cotton, wool, wood and such materials with a solution of albumen and glycerine. This is said to be absolutely water-proof.

The furnaces of one establishment alone at Pittsburgh make as much iron per year as was made in the entire country in 1861. Pittsburgh has the largest steel smelting concern in the world. The city smelts three hundred and sixty tons per day.

At Woodbine near Baltimore a B. & O. freight ran into a "pick up" on the 23rd. The engineer was fatally scalded and the fireman badly injured. Fifteen cars were derailed.

At a meeting of Irish patriots in New York, on the 22nd, it was resolved to form an order called "The Patriotic Irish Exiles" to aid Ireland. Prof. Mezzeroft was elected president.

By an explosion of natural gas six miles from Murfreesville, Pa., on the 22nd, three men were badly burned, one fatally by carelessly lighting the gas while in the trench.

Among the recent graduates of the Woman's Medical College in New York City is Kin Yamet, a Chinese girl, who had taken the highest position in the class. She is an accomplished scholar, able to converse and write accurately in five languages.

Argonia, Kansas, is the only town in America which ever elected a woman to the office of mayor. She is alone in a distinction that represents another step in the steady advance of liberal ideas regarding woman's work in society. Mayor Salter's maiden name was Susanna Madola Kinsey. She was born of parents who were members of the Society of Friends, on a farm near Lamira, Belmont county, Ohio, in the year 1860. The mayor of Argonia is five feet three and a half inches in height. She is thin and of an active temperament. The cares of office have induced her to engage the services of a domestic, but otherwise her arrangements at home are as they were before her election to be the chief person in a population of 500. She learned dressmaking while at college, and makes her own and her children's clothing. She was busy at the wash tub when her consent was gained to serve as mayor if elected. Mrs. Salter's salary is one dollar a year.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., was the scene of a riot on the 21st. 300 persons were engaged and 60 were badly wounded.

Playing Saloon.

"I hear that Smith has sold out his saloon," said one of a couple of middle-aged men, who sat sipping their beer and eating a bit of cheese in a Smithfield Street saloon last Friday night. "Yes," responded the other, rather slowly.

"What was the reason? I thought he was just coining money there."

The other nibbled a cracker abstractly for a moment, and then said: "It's rather a funny story. Smith, you know, lives on Mount Washington, right near me, where he has an excellent wife, a nice home, and three as pretty children as ever played out doors. All boys, you know, the oldest not over nine, and all about the same size. Smith is a pretty respectable sort of a citizen, never drinks or gambles, and thinks the world of his family."

"Well, he went home one afternoon last week, and found his wife out shopping or that sort. He went on through the house into the back yard; and there, under an apple-tree, were the little fellows playing. They had a bench and some bottles and tumblers, and were playing 'keep saloon.' He noticed they were drinking something out of a pail, and that they acted tipsy. The youngest, who was behind the bar, had a towel tied around his waist, and was setting the drinks up pretty free. Smith walked over and looked in the pail. It was beer, and two of the boys were so drunk that they staggered. A neighbor's boy, a couple of years older, lay asleep behind the tree."

"My boys, you must not drink that," he said, as he lifted the six year old from behind the bench."

"We's playin' s'loon, papa, an' I was a sellin' it just like you," said the little fellow. Smith poured out the beer, carried the drunken boy home, and then took his own boys in and put them to bed. When his wife came back, she found him crying like a child. He came back down town that night, gave up his business, and says he will never sell or drink another drop of liquor. His wife told mine about it, and she broke down crying while she told it." This is a true story, but the name was not Smith.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Mr. Beecher's Biography.

The Rev. Mr. Halliday, Mr. Beecher's assistant in Plymouth church, has been associated with Lyman Abbott, D. D., in the preparation of the biography of the late Mr. Beecher, to which the great preacher, previous to his death, largely contributed. It was not proposed to have either Mr. Halliday's or Mr. Beecher's connection with the book generally known, but the death of Mr. Beecher has removed the objection to the fact being made public, and now the complete book will appear with both Dr. Lyman Abbott's and Rev. S. B. Halliday's name on the title page, who are better fitted to write such a work than any other living persons. They have also been assisted by a corps of over thirty eminent writers, Leonard Bacon, D. D., J. G. Whittier and others, who have contributed reminiscences, etc. As Mr. Beecher did not write a line upon any autobiography of himself, but did contribute to this work, the additional fact is apparent that Dr. Abbott's and Rev. Halliday's book is the nearest approach to an autobiography that Mr. Beecher has left, and with the array of talent employed it looks as if we were to have a biography which is worthy of the man, and will prove a valuable addition to any library.

It is an interesting biography of a famous man, and is fascinating throughout. No one can open this book and read without becoming interested. Mr. Beecher will take his place in the histories of the future as one of the greatest orators of all ages, and every one can read this book with profit. His experiences among the riotous crowds in England during the rebellion arouse the admiration and patriot feeling in every reader's heart. The work is being sold by subscription, by Winter & Co., Springfield Mass.

FEDERAL CONSTITUTION CENTENNIAL.

Excursions to Philadelphia.

The Centennial Anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution will be celebrated at Philadelphia September 16th-17th by an elaborate trades procession, military and naval review, and other appropriate ceremonies and festivities, which will be participated in by the President of the United States and his Cabinet. All of the "Original Thirteen" and a majority of the other States and Territories will be represented by detachments of their national guard and by civic societies. This will undoubtedly be the most notable demonstration that has taken place since the centennial celebration of our national independence. To accommodate persons desiring to visit Philadelphia upon this occasion, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Philadelphia from all points on its system of lines, at the rate of one fare for the round trip. From points west of the Ohio River excursion tickets will be sold from September 8th to 17th inclusive, good returning until September 22nd inclusive.
